THE AUDUBON SOCIETY.

Miss Katharine H. Stuart, of this city, field agent for the Virginia Audubon Association, will leave today for Richmond to direct the Audubon exhibit at the state fair. Miss Stuart will be assisted in this work by the most prominent social leaders of the city, among them Mrs. Mowbray, Mrs. T. Sydney Buford, Mrs. Minor Woodward and others. Col. T. L. Christian will represent the Virginia Game Protective Association. The Audubon Association has done great service in arousing a deep interest in bird protection and stands for better laws and the appointment of a game commissioner. The exhibit last year attracted thousands of visitors all anxious to hear of the mission, of our birds and of their use to the farmer. The exhibit consisted of groups of mounted birds, their nests and eggs, showing species wrongly considered game birds, such as the meadow lark, bull bunt, robin and mourning doves birds that have suffered most from the millinery trade, as the American egret, snowy heron and the tern. Those species of hawks and owls which have given a bad name to their family as the sharp-shinned cooper and goshawk and the great-horned owl, and those species which are wrongly considered as harmful to the farmers, actually his best friends, as the red-shouldered, red-tailed and sparrow hawk, long-eared screech owl. The booth is in the hall of agriculture and will be decorated with small trees, giving a country effect to the scene. Alexandria has a flourishing branch with Judge J. K. M. Norton as president and during the past year clubs have been formed in the public schools of our city where splendid work has been done in Audubon lines by the pupils under the direction of their teachers.

Lukens, superintendent of Central Union Mission, Washington, delivered an interesting and instructive address on "The Teacher and His Bible." The hymns were sung by a choir under the direction of J. T. Preston.

An interesting programme was well rendered yesterday, morning at the rally day services held at Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church. Rev. R. W. Rudisill, pastor, preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

THE JEWISH NEW YEAR.

As has been stated, Rabbi Maurice Krohngold, of Cincinnati, will conduct services at 7 o'clock this evening at the Jewish Synagogue in observance of the feast of Rosh Hoshanah, the Jewish New Year.

The observance of Rosh Hoshanah, which is one of the oldest of the Jewish feasts, marks the beginning of a series of holy days to be celebrated by orthodox Jews during this month. Yom Kippur, the holiest day in the Jewish calendar, will be observed throughout the world on October 13. The day is one of atonement, and is most strictly observed by total abstinence from food from sundown to sundown.

"Succoth," or the Feast of the Tabernacles, begins October 18 and continues for eight days, concluding with "the day of solemn assembly."

Through the celebration of Rosh Hoshanah, which begins this evening, is a solemn occasion, it is not a mournful one. The sounding of the shofar, or ram's horn, symbolizing the "memorial of the blowing of the trumpets," is included in the ceremonies of the feasts.

COLORED MAN ROBBED.

Zachariah Reid, colored, of Round Hill, Loudoun county, paid a visit to Alexandria on Saturday evening and proceeded to the northeastern section of the city where he had his hair cut. He later drank liquor in several places and after making some acquaintances was escorted to the southwestern section of the city. He subsequently reappeared on north Fairfax street, by which time he was too drunk for locomotion and collapsed in a doorway. Three negroes—Joseph Carroll, Norman Willis, and another colored man named Carter took charge of Reid and carried him to a spot on which there was a vigorous growth of weeds. The drunken man awoke several hours later and, upon taking an inventory, found his exchequer completely exhausted. On the ground nearby he discovered two pocketbooks which he carried, but upon examination he found both had been rifled. Reid reported the matter to the police, and alleged he had fifteen dollars in the pocketbook when he returned to the northeastern section of the city. Carroll and Willis were arrested and brought before the Police Court this morning, but, as positive evidence could be secured against them, they were dismissed.

CARDINALS WIN IN THE NINTH

Defeat A. C. in the last of a 3 game series for the Championship of Alexandria by the score of 4 to 3.

The final game of the championship series between the Cardinal Athletic Club and the Alexandria Athletic Club was played on the north Alfred street grounds Saturday afternoon before one of the largest crowds that ever attended a baseball match in this city and for brilliant and sensational fielding by members of both teams has rarely, if ever, been equaled at any time. The Cardinals won by the score of 4 to 3, but had to play every muscle to defeat the Alexandrians, who fought them in every possible way to keep them from winning, and it may be said to their credit, the champions had the most difficult time in their career in capturing the much prized honor of being "The Champions of Alexandria."

The Alexandria Athletics, although defeated, need not in the least feel ashamed on that account. They proved during the series their ability to play the game as it should be played, and by adding one game and tying another to their record is not so bad after all.

Neither team scored until the Cardinals' half of the fourth inning, when Snowden crossed the line with the first tally when Astyrke sent a three-base "sizzler" to the extreme outfield. Trenary singled scoring Astyrke. Two scores.

The Alexandrians made their first score in the fifth inning when Sullivan hit the ball square on the nose and sent it to the far right field, gaining a home run. One score.

Hayden in the Cardinals' turn at bat in the fifth inning made a beautiful three-bagger and scored on McBrice's long sacrifice fly. One score.

Jones the first to bat for the Alexandrians in the seventh inning walloped a little daisy with his trusty oak and the next seen of him was standing on the three-base bag. Williams doubled, scoring Jones. One run.

The Cardinals failed to score in the seventh inning.

Ale made his team-mates happy in the eighth inning when he connected with the sphere-like pellet so well that when he quit running he was where he started from—being the Cardinals. One run.

The Cardinals went out in one, two, three order in the eighth inning. No runs.

The Alexandrians traveled by the same route in the ninth inning. No runs.

Trenary who had been fielding and batting in the grandest style in former innings had rabbit-foot luck with him in the ninth inning for the Cardinals when Scrivener (who had also been playing his position to perfection) in his anxiety to throw him out at first base, heaved the ball over Doherty's head and in the course of events "Bird" went to second. Murphy, the next man up, hit one to Schriener, who missed the ball, and Trenary came home with the winning tally.

Pitts pitched in his best and most graceful style and used his corkscrew-like curves to great advantage in moving down his rivals. When Pitts were needed to bring them success, Patterson, catcher, played his position in an excellent manner and his lightning-like throws to catch runners who attempted to steal bases were in most cases successful.

Burrell in the box for the Alexandrians pitched high grade ball and caused his opponents much trouble to solve his delivery and played his position in a clean and satisfactory way. Sullivan, catcher, supported him in magnificent style and his easy method of filling his difficult place behind the bat, and his general playing classed him as the peer of his team associates in the final contest.

Mr. William Betts, the umpire, was the greatest success in that most difficult place, and won the esteem of all present by his fair decisions and gentlemanly bearing. May he visit Alexandria again in the same capacity.

Home runs—Ale and Sullivan. Three base hits—Jones, Hayden and Astyrke. Two base hits—Cockrell. Struck out—Pitts, 7; by Burrell, 5. Left on bases—Cardinals, 6; Alexandrians, 2. Off Pitts, 4; Wild Pitch Burrell. Umpire—Mr. Betts. Time of game—1 hour and 35 minutes.

A GOOD STARTER.

Beginning the week with a high class show it is safe to presume the following half of the week will be just as good. When the management of the New Opera House can secure such talent as May Foster and Mike, clever Irish couple, with their dog, Allen and May, in high-class singing and dancing, and in funny stories, imitations and trombone solos, it is guaranteed that they intend to furnish the best vaudeville obtainable.

RAILROAD CHANGES.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Southern Railway Company Friday last, E. H. Coapman was elected vice president and general manager to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C. H. Ackert, who is now connected with the Chicago and Alton Railroad. Mr. Coapman takes immediate charge of the operation and maintenance departments. R. D. Lankford was elected vice president and secretary in charge of the New York office. He will assist the president in matters relating to the treasury and accounting departments.

A meeting of the Civic Improvement League will be held at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce tonight.

RIVER IMPROVEMENTS.

Improvement work in the waters of Nomin creek will be started, it is stated, in a few days, under the direction of the U. S. army engineers in charge of the Potomac river improvements. The hydraulic dredge Elk, belonging to the Maryland Dredging Company of Baltimore, was delivered at Nomin early last week. It is stated that $15,000 will be expended in Nomin this fall, and that an additional sum will be available next year for the continuation of the work.

A channel was cut through the bar at the mouth of the creek several years ago, and seven feet at ordinary low water is all that can be found in the creek.

Dredging work is also in progress in Occoquan creek, and work will shortly start in Upper Machodoc creek and at Lower Cedar point.

The contract for dredging 300,000 cubic yards of material from the channel of the river opposite Alexandria, and depositing it in Battery Cove, has been awarded Sanford & Brooks.

Contracts have been entered into with John H. Miller, of Washington, for dredging 41,000 cubic yards of material from the Potomac at Lower Cedar point, Md., dredging 45,000 cubic yards at upper Machodoc creek, and dredging 26,000 cubic yards from the Potomac at Dymers creek, Va.

FRIENDS HIGHLY ENTERTAINED.

At Belmont station, in Fairfax county, one of the largest oak trees in that section of the country lives and flourishes. Its massive branches and foliage has sheltered many from the torrid heat and threatening storm. But on yesterday, as on many other occasions, a happy party assembled in the spacious ark located under this tree and a grand time was experienced. Oysters in all styles, sandwiches in abundance was the menu and fishing was the least of one's thoughts, although bait was plentiful. An hour spent with them yesterday was like a dream, as pleasure was king and ruled in might.

The host of the occasion was Captain A. D. Deaton, a veteran of two wars—the Indian and that at Camp Alger, and he was at his best.

The club is composed of Messrs. Harvey Evans, Martin A. Quinn, George Bontz, Harry B. Quinn and Thos. Pullman. The club has installed electric lights from the river to Belmont station. Among the visitors were Aldermen J. M. Hill and Jacob Brill, Police Commissioner A. H. Oehlert and Messrs. George E. Nightingill and R. T. Cook. During the evening a pleasant visit was paid by Capt. Vernon C. Moore. This was indeed an occasion where there was no deadlock for all souls had but a single thought—pleasure—all hearts did beat as one.

TO MEET WEDNESDAY.

The question of opposition to Hon. C. C. Carlin, democratic nominee for Congress in this district, is still a matter of speculation. The last republican convention against the present standard bearer of the democratic party adjourned without making a nomination, and left the matter in the hands of the city and county chairmen to select some one to act as a target in the present campaign. The following letter has been received by Mr. Harry B. Quinn, chairman of the city republican committee, in regard to the matter, showing the determination of the congressional committee to place a candidate in the field, if possible:

Manassas, Va., Sept. 26, 1910.
Harry B. Quinn, Esq., Chairman City Republican Committee.

Dear Sir:—The special committee to whom was referred the question of naming a candidate for Congress in the Eighth congressional district of Virginia will meet at Rammel's Hotel in the city of Alexandria, Va., on Wednesday, the 5th of October, 1910, at one o'clock p. m. H. P. Doherty, Republican Chairman 8th District committee.

Mr. Quinn, not willing to stand on his own wishes in the matter, has called a meeting of the city republican committee for tomorrow night and to get their views in regard to placing a nominee in the field against Mr. Carlin, before he enters the meeting of the special committee. The consensus of opinion is that no one of prominence in the republican ranks will seek the empty honor, but someone who wants an office would be willing to be led as a lamb to the slaughter.

When young Bittle returned to his home he declared he had not sent for the violin.

Do you believe in destiny, or do you fight your way along the lines of fate? Napoleon, Washington, Lee, and McKim are all men of destiny. Their motto was: "God, My Country, My Countrymen and Myself." The hall-mark of a genius is destiny. It is the brow of each of these men. Their thoughts were big with a capital B. Whenever they wanted anything "worthwhile" they ordered it through "irresistible" delicious Auth Sausages, Puddings and Food Products from Blondheim's Auth Stand and Market.

Another period of low pressure and unsettled weather is likely to set in after the middle of the week.
